

Experts...

Experts have a lot to say about the “right way” to print almost anything. That’s not all bad, except it can be a little intimidating when you want to have something printed, and you’re worried it won’t end up looking as good as you’d like.

The fact is, you are the expert in your field, and you know your customers better than anyone else. We can tweak your ideas to save you money and time, but you are the final judge of how your finished job should look. You know how to please your customers. We work hard to please you.

When you call on us for printing, you’ll get our expertise, but you are the boss. We are happy to offer suggestions, but we want to be sure your printing order ends up looking exactly as you want, because your instincts are the best for your business.

Because we want to be your printer!

Why is it said that life begins at forty? Isn’t that about the time everything starts to wear out, fall out, or spread out?

Why is it that a luxury becomes a necessity as soon as we discover we can make the down payment on it?

Have you ever thought that perhaps if you never made a mistake, you would never hear your name mentioned?

The trouble with being an optimist these days is that people think you have no clue as to what's going on around you.

Our friends judge us by what we are capable of doing, but our enemies judge us by what we might have done.

Today's opportunities lie between yesterday's regrets and tomorrow's dreams.

Do you suppose God lets some people get into trouble because that's the only time they think of him?

A man walked into a doctor's office and said, "Doctor, please help me. Every time I put on my hat I hear music, and when I take it off, the music stops."

The doctor took the hat and said, "I know what your problem is, and I can fix it." So he took the man's hat and pulled off the band.
